M. F. DWYER'S YEARLINGS ARE A GOOD-LOOKING LOT.

Mis Trements Mave More Size and Substance Than the Brother to Tammany-Lucky Baldwin and Trainer Bill Brien-Not the First Time Bries Has Beer Under Suspicion-The Hamilton Jockey Club Han Plenty of Pluck - Entries for the Meeting at New Orleans To-day,

The yearling thoroughbreds quartered at the tracks in the vicinity of New York are said to be mising and as fine looking a lot of youngas promising and as fine looking a lot of young-sters as has been seen in a number of years. THE day afternoon that have a great deal of size and substance to commend them. Messrs. Keebe, Dwyer, Edmonson, and Lakeland were looking at them, and were greatly pleased with the condition they were in. Of course Mr. Keene took a good look at the colt by Iroquois out of Tulia-homa, as this youngster has been nominated by his owner in the private sweepstakes for twoyear-old colts to be run at Gravesend next spring

This brother to Tammany is, like his great relative, a chestnut in color, but as yet he does not give the promise of being as big a horse as the conqueror of Lamplighter. He is a rather taking colt, however, one of the long, low type, and he must have shown well in his trials last fall or Mr. Dwyer would have nominated in his stead some of the larger and more flashy colts by Tremont. The brother to Tammany has bac looking ankles forward, and Mr. Keene looked askance at them as the colt was led away. The brown colt by Tremont out of Tassel was as limber as a piece of whalebone when led out for inspection and cleared the way by a good use of his heels. He is of commanding size and has as much bone as anything Tremont has sired so far. The sister to Helen Nichols is a chestnut with a sprinkling of gray hairs through her rough winter coat. She is very small, but has very racy conformation, and looked as though she could get out and run a quarter fast any time she should be called upon. An In-spector B. colt is a typical Bonnie Scotland, and the Inspector is bound to get a race horse some of these days. As far as the Tremont colts in M. F. Dwyer's string go they are a remarkably good-looking lot, but Tremont has as yet failed to get a real clinker, Dagonet being the best colt The tenacity with which Lucky Baldwin of in Francisco clings to Bill Brien is amazing. Baldwin must know the trainer's record as well as any man in America, and it is simply astounding that the California millionaire should stand up for any man whose reputation is as bad as up for any man whose reputation is as bad as Brien's. No trainer on the turf has been in one-half the scandals that Brien has, and when he was ruled off at Saratoga some years ago by the late ex-Gov. Bowle of Maryland, it was for a case of the most high-handed "stuffing" that turf annals can show. It was only on the representations of Brien and his father, who is said to be a most estimable gentleman of Tennessee, that Ex-Gov. Bowle was induced to rescind the penalty imposed at Saratoga. Brien represented that he was through with the turf forever, and that he was going to take up the practice of law in Tennessee, and he did not care to go into the profession with the stigma of being ruled off the turf for fraud attached to his name. Brien lost no time in getting back to his old business, and somehow or other, although in tight spots a number of times, he managed to escape, and was around New York the early portion of last season training horses for the Camden Stables, if which he was reputed to be the part owner. It is horse ran in-and-out during the Jerome Park meeting, and the stewards had him before them, but once more he managed to go scot free. Brien's. No trainer on the turf has been in one-Park meeting, and the stewards had him before hem, but once more he managed to go scot free. Dne of the thoroughbreds Brien raced at Jerome Park was the three-year-old filly Miss Galop. She won one day at odds of 40 and 50 to 1, and after the race Brien went about with a long face that assured everybody that he din't have a jenny on her and did not expect her to win. As a matter of fact Brien won heavily over the race, and had a boon companion place the money for him. The partner in the racing ptable was told that the filly had no chance, and Brien was the only winner in the firm. When reproached by his friend afterward with not telling his partner how good the filly was, Brien said; "What, tell that fellow anything? Not on

"What, tell that fellow anything? Not on your life."
This is characteristic of the man. Soon afterward, through the machinery of the courts, the partnership was dissolved and the horses sold. Brien bobbed up at Latonia and assumed charge of Lucky Baldwin's horses with a great beating of drums and blaring of trumpets. From the time he took command of the stable matters went wrong. The erratic performances of the horses in the stable, especially the form shown by the American Derby winner, Rey Elisanta Anlits, raused the severest comment, and shortly after the arrival of the horses at San Francisco the vigilant Board of Stewards suspended Brien.
Then Brien and his employer came forward with an extraordinary story to the effect that a stable foreman named Duff had been desing the horses, and that he alone was responsible for their poor showing in certain races. Duff denied this, and the turfmen of the country believe him. Baldwin is going to stand by Brien, and threatens to take his horses away from the California Jockey Club's track. If Fresident T. H. Williams is the man he is said to be by those who know him intimately, he will tell Mr. Baldwin to take his horses and his trainer away and toreatens to take his horses away from the California Jockey Club's track. If President T. H. Williams is the man he is said to be by those who know him intimately, he will tell Mr. Baldwin to take his horses and his trainer away from Bay District and keep them away.

Bries's record at Guttenburg was bad, too, and the racegoers at the hilltop track that bleak Christmas Day when Drumstick was pulled will not shed many tears if Brien is kept off all reputable race courses.

It is the intention of Secretary H. D. McIntyre of the Virginis Jockey Club to open a number of stakes for the spring meeting at St. Asaph. During the winter months several hundred loads of sand will be spread upon the track and thoroughly worked into the top soil. The course was very fast taward the close of the meeting, and it is the delire of the management to make it not only the fastest but the safest track in the South.

The Hamilton Jockey Club of Hamilton. MEETING OF THE N. A. T. H. B. Relieg's Sale of Trotters John B. Centry, Bie Dam, and Granddam.

The annual meeting of the National Association of Trotting Horse Breeders will be held next Wednesday afternoon at the Fifth Avenue Hotel, when officers are to be elected for the coming year. At present H. W. T. Mail of this city is the President, L. D. Packer of New London, Conn., is the Secretary, and W. F. Red-mond is Treasurer. The organization is probably the oldest trotting-horse breeders' associa-tion in existence, having been organized in 1876 for the purpose of supervising the compilation of Wallace's American Trotting Register. Since the control of the Register passed out of its hands by the removal of the office from New York city to Chicago in 1891 the associa-tion has not been prominent in the horse world, but it is proposed this year to open a number of colt stakes and join with the Charter Oak Driving Club in giving a combined trotting meeting and horse show at Hartford, Conn. The death of the late J. G. Davis of this city has necessitated the sale of the noted trotting sire Alcantara, and the son of George Wilkes and Alma Mater will be struck off to the highest bidder at Kellogg's midwinter sale in Madison Square Garden Jan. 9-12. Although the horse is now eighteen years of age he is one of the most popular sires living, and he will probably fetch as much at public anction as any other trotting stallion that could be named. Mr. Davis s said to have paid $75,000 to the estate of his former employer, Elizur Smith of Lee, Mass., for Alcantara a few years ago,

He is the sire of more than seventyfive trotters and pacers with records better Mass., for Alcantara a few years ago. He is the sire of more than seventy-five trotters and pacers with records better than 2:30, among which are such as Alar, 2:11: Lightning, 2:11, and Miss Alice, 2:134. The entire breeding stud belonging to the estate of Mr. Davis will be soid at this sale, the sale of Mr. Davis will be soid at this sale, the same sale, A. B. Darling of the Fifth Avenue Hotel in this city will sell the greater part of his collection of trotting stock, including the stallion Lavalard, by Director, 2:17, out of Sweetness, 2:2114; dam of Sidney, 2:1645, by Volunteer. Among Mr. Darling's lot is the famous brood mare Hinda Wilkes, by Guy Wilkes, 2:134, out of Woodford Queen by Almont. Hinda Wilkes is only ten years old, and she has produced three trotters with records below 2:20, viz. Bouble Cross, 2:1845; Lon Wilkes, 2:1694, and Hidd S. 9:16194. The latter is a three-year-old by Stamboul, 2:07%, and she is to be sold with her dam. Among the other coinsigners are J. Malcolin. Forbes of Boston, who will self a number of brood mares and a certain the coincidence of the coincidence of the coincidence of the company of this city, who self-his noted campaigner Cobwebs, 2:12: Alfred de Cordova, E. H. Howne, J. W. Daly, and George J. Harley were also consignors. The fast trotting mare La Tosca. 2:1635, and the stallions Deputy, 2:194, and Rumor, 2:20, are also to be sold.

M. E. McHenry has abandoned his proposed hippodromins tour in California with the Salisbury-Hamila combination, and will, it is now reported, whiter the champion pacing stallion John R. Gentry, 2:03%, either at Freeport, Ill., or at Lexington, Ky. Gentry has never been in good form since he met Robert J. in the special race at Nashville last October, and it is said that the injury he then received is at the bottom of the roble. Although the reports sent out from Nashville at the time of the race indicated that Gentry's Injury was a mere soratch, it is now known than the famous hingure and the sent of the rown of the robles of the rown than 2:30, among which are such as

AMERICA'S CUP CONTROVERSY. Chairman Smith Thinks There Will be an Important Meeting To-day.

STAMPORD, Conn., Dec. 16.-Mr. James D. Smith, Chairman of the America's Cup Committee, was seen by a representative of the despatch sent to him by H. Maitland Kersey, the despatch sentto him by H. Maitland Kersey, the representative of Lord Dunraven in this country. Commodors Smith said:

"The communication which I received from Mr. Kersey stated that he had received a cable from Lord Dunraven which 'cleared up all matters, and Mr. Kersey asked me to call a meeting of the America's Cup Committee on Monday, which I had done before receiving his despatch. This seems an infimation to me that there must be something new and important to communicate to my committee."

A member of the New York Yacht Club told THE SUN reporter vesterday that any compro-mise which proposes to ignore the New Deed of Gift or belittle the America's Cup as an interna-tional yachting trophy will not be entertained, and the sooner Lord Dunraven recognizes this the nearer he will be to a race.

NO MORE BOXING AT CHICAGO. Police Issue an Order That Puts an End to Glove Contests of All Sorts.

CHICAGO, Dec. 16. -All exhibitions where fists are brought in contact with face and body, even amateur boxing bouts at the swell club house of the Chicago A. A., have been strictly prohibited by special order of the Police Superintendent, who is backed by Mayor Hopkins. The order may even be applied to the theatrical performmay even be applied to the theatrical performances of the Corbett and Fitzsimmons order. The New Orleans tragedy has served to make the authorities more determined than ever to suppress boxing.

The police order which was issued two weeks ago brought many protesting delegations to the City Hall from clubs, athletic societies, and even sporting editors, to allow sparring exhibitions for various purposes, some of a benefit character, but all were refused. A $700 fight to a finish was in progress in the rear of a saloon last night when the police entered at the end of the sixth round and arrested everybody present. The fight was a bloody and brutal slugging affair.

Eugene L. Richards, Jr., a Yale graduate, gave out the following statement:

Immediately upon the close of the football season the Yale Football Association, in view of the charges made against Capt. Hinkey of the Yale eleven, requested the following sentlemen to investigate the charges: Prof. E. L. Richards, Mr. Walter Camp, Mr. Henry E. Howland, Mr. George A. Adee, Mr. Howard Knapp, Mr. Esgene L. Richards, Jr., and others.

These gentlemen have found that all of the charges of roughness in the Springfield game have centred in the alleged wifful injury of Wrightington by Capt. Hinkey. They, therefore, requested all of the Officials to give their testimony as to the occurrence, and which here submitted. It should be added that these officials were unantmously chosen by both teams as men of recognised experience, capacity, and fairment of the first of the sileged play, and in more silvantageous proximity to (the play than any other observer, their testimony should have more value than that of any one class.

The committee examined Capt. Hinkey, who, al-their testimony should have more value than that of any one else. The committee examined Capt. Hinkey, who, although grerse to carrying discussions into the public press, befertheless, on account of the gravity of the many unfounded charges made against him, states once for all and most positive grainst he did not show of the gravity of the many unfounded charges made against he did not a state of the control of the gravity of the same of the same of the same in the same in which he has pringfold game, and that the games in which he has rated by the fact that although he has played for seven years at andover and at fale, and hence, under various umpfres and referees, no official has ever found it necessary to adjudge him guilty of, or disquality him for, under play.

The statement of Mr. Beard, which accompanies this testimony, gives the details of the play and accords with the Independent statements of the officials which have voluntarily been made without consultation with each other. These statements are in the possession of Prof. E. J. Richards, and are as follows:

To the Eoffon of The SCS-Sir. I enclose a clipping from an article entitled "Needed Football Heform," published in this morning "issue, Dec. 10. In

So much has been made of this particular occur-rence, that I feel that this statement is due as a matter of justice, and I hope that in the same apirit you will make it Just as public as the paragraph which has called it forth. I remain, yours very fruly, DAVID BOVAIRD.

STATEMENT OF THE UNPIRE. Prof. E. L. Richards.

DEAR Sin: In regard to the responsibility of the injury to Wrightington in the Harvard-Yale game, would say that the injury was a pure accident, which might have happened a fay time, and it is impossible. The statement that the injury was caused by the victous playing of Capt. Hinkey with the intent to main is not borne out by the facts. The attack upon Capt. Hinkey is considered to be unjust and apparently emanates from prejudiced persons. Your respectfully,

ALKANDER MOFFAT.

STATEMENT OF THE LENESMAN. Henry W. Beccher.
I saw no unnecessary roughness in the Springfield game, and I have not taken the least stock in the paper accounts about Hinkey. He was no rougher than any of the other men from my point of view, and I was quite near. He plays a good, hard game, but he never impressed me as a fellow who played with the intention of disabling a man, and I don't believe he does. There is very little to be said, for I have said all from I did not see him jump on the Harvard player, Wrightington, and don't believe he did. Geolog D. Fraatt. STATEMENT OF THE ASSISTANT LINESMAN.

STATEMENT OF ANSON M. BEARD.

The play in which Wrightington was in jured occurred about ten yards from Harvard's goal, nearly in front of the goal posts. The above statements and the newspaper reports in general relative to the play in question do not seem to agree. For instance, THE SUN said: Thorne punted to Wrightington on Harvard's 10-yard line, but the ball was called back for off-side play. Wrightington, however, had been so badily handled by Hinkey that he left the field, and it was said that his collar bone was broken.

The comments of other Boston and New York Dapers follow:

The ball fell into Wrightington's arms on Harvard's 10-yard line. Hinkey was down on him in a twinking and tackled bin with a victousness that was inexcusable. He downed him and jumped on his head, hirting him so severely that he was taken off the field in a dazed condition.

The whole Harvard contingency was up in arms. It was a clear case of dirty football, and many a Harvard man had hard work to keep from running on the field and mobbling Hinkey then and there. Umpire Moffat never saw the play, and Hinkey's only punishment was a round hissing.

When he was able to arise it was necesary to take him off the field, the Yale Captain's effort being rewarded with a broken collar bone.

From the New Fore Times.

Thorne kicked down to the ten-yard line, where Wrightington caught the ball, but was thrown heavily to the ground by Capt. Hinkey. The play was not allowed, and the ball was brought back again. Wrightington was bally injured that he had to retire, and whittenore took his place. Hinkey was playing a very rough game, and it seemed to was playing a very rough game, and it seemed took no notice of it. It seemed to be Hinkey's main object to diable the best players of Harvard.

From the New York Press.

F. Hinkey tackled Wrightington in a nasty manner and hurt his shoulder, and the Harvard contingent hissed him roundly. Wrightington had to be taken off the field with a broken collar bone. W. A. Brooks, Jr., Harvard's coach, over his signature in the Boston Globs, said: The play by which Capt. Hinkey broke Wrighting-on's collar bone should never have gone unpunished. S. V. R.
